

The question here is how will you efficiently and effectively manage the elements and the intent of the management systems without integrating the programs?

